

Editorial Foreword

Alisher Akhmedjonov

We are proud that Journal of Applied Economics and Business Research (JAEBR) is progressing from a vague idea to a fully established academic journal open to high-quality papers from all fields of applied economics, business and finance. JAEBR, the articles appearing in it, and its authors are now indexed in EBSCO's Publishing databases and Cabell's Directory on Economics and Finance, Accounting, Management, Marketing. Soon JAEBR will be indexed in EconLit, Ulrich and Copernicus.

This issue of Journal of Applied Economics and Business Research contains four research papers. Nur Sulku Seher from Gazi University in Ankara, Turkey examines the long run neutrality of money in Turkey applying Fisher and Seater ARIMA framework. Angus Kwok from Bulacan State University in Bulacan, Philippines explores the relationship between new arrivals to Hong Kong from the Mainland China controlling for some important macroeconomic variables. Yusuf Mugaloglu and Eser Erdag from the Istanbul Stock Exchange examine the relationship between stock return volatility of ISE-30 index constituents and public disclosure via electronic public disclosure platform. Finally, Shirley Yeung from Hang Seng School of Management empirically investigates the perception of respondents on corporate social responsibility and banking practice of major banks in Hong Kong.

As we have noted from the first publication of the journal, Journal of Applied Economics and Business Research is committed to publishing empirically oriented papers, but does not exclude review articles or theoretical contributions provided that they are of high quality and relevant to the journal's aims. Soon Journal of Applied Economics and Business Research (JAEBR) will be indexed in EconLit, Ulrich and Copernicus. The efforts are underway to index JAEBR at EconLit, Ulrich and Copernicus. We welcome article submissions in all areas of economics, business and finance.
